

WILMA STRINGER

BOARD MEMBER

Wilma is a new WCHC board member. Before she retired, she had worked in healthcare, investment banking, and fundraising. Wilma has an interest in the financial and political effects of both health and healthcare disparities. Specifically, how they can affect the ability to work, to vote, and to participate in other important life activities. She would like to work with WCHC's clients, volunteers, and staff to broaden our understanding of these problems, and possibly help design specific interventions. She is a longtime resident of Detroit and a graduate of Wayne State University.
