

Hassan Sheikh

Hassan Sheikh was born and raised in southeast Michigan. He received his Bachelor's from Wayne State University, and his Master's in Public Administration from Oakland University with a focus on local government management and non-profit management. In his prior roles he served as the first Executive Director for the Michigan chapter of Emgage, and then the Director of Community and Economic Development for the City of Hamtramck. He currently serves as the Deputy Director of Economic and Community Development for the City of Dearborn. Hassan also works as a political strategist and is the co-founder of Ahmed and Sheikh Consulting. Hassan comes from a long history of community service, activism, and political advocacy. His current board affiliations include Wayne County Healthy Communities (WCHC), Emgage, Leaders Advancing and Helping Communities (LAHC), Rising Voices for Asian American Families (RVAAF), Destiny Defined, Michigan Islamic Sports Association, and Huda Clinic. He also sits on the Young Professional Finance Council for Governor Gretchen Whitmer. Hassan resides in West Bloomfield Township with his wife Sumaiya, and his sons Hamza and Ali also known as the Twin Mambaz.